As the leaves begin to appear on the trees and the grass starts to turn green, we celebrate the arrival of spring. This year, perhaps more than in others, this season of renewal and rebirth holds more promise for each one of us.

Not only are we coming out of a long, cold winter, but it seems that we can begin to see a light at the end of the COVID-19 pandemic tunnel as incident rates decline and vaccination rates increase. I don’t know about you, but it feels like there is more reason to celebrate than we’ve had for a very long time.

Our cover story on The Running Well Store at 6009 Johnson Drive celebrates how owner Kathy Gates turned a dream into reality with a business committed to helping customers stay active and avoid injuries regardless of age or ability. Her story includes a chance to learn about the challenges and successes she and her staff faced when the world shut down in March 2020. Adding virtual fittings and home delivery options to their already personalized services helped to set them apart and stand out in the crowd.

And we don’t have to look very far to find other successes worth celebrating. The Mission Community Food Pantry was launched through a partnership of dedicated volunteers and Trinity Lutheran Church last fall to establish a permanent food pantry in Northeast Johnson County. Month after month, the program continues to grow, serving an important and sometimes invisible need in our community.

The feature story on long-time community volunteer Mary Funk is a tribute to the importance of quiet, dedicated residents who make it their mission to improve their City and community. Mary sets an example for us all and isn’t afraid to challenge us to do better and to be better—a reminder we all need every once in a while.

And when it comes to “doing better” and thinking about our future, I know you’ll be impressed with the ideas that were shared through the “If I Were Mayor” poster contest. It was definitely a humbling experience to see the care and compassion for the environment, animals and people — regardless of their differences — that our students articulated. We can certainly celebrate the hope they represent for our future.

This is a year of celebration for Mission. Seventy years ago on July 2, 1951, the City was incorporated, and our history as a unique community began. We have seen many changes through the years, and in another 70 years I suspect we’ll look back at this time in our history and marvel at our resilience through all of the challenges we’ve faced and successes we’ve enjoyed.

I trust you will enjoy the stories of celebration in this issue of the Mission Magazine just as much as you enjoy the arrival of spring!

-Ron Appletoft, Mayor

Surviving an emergency is no accident.

To Greg, road trips mean freedom. But after suffering a stroke at age 43, his whole life changed. He realized how every second counts, especially when it comes to an emergency. AdventHealth’s ER experts responded fast – and today, Greg is back on the road again.

When the unexpected occurs, know where to go for expert emergency care near you. Because in an emergency, there’s no time to waste… and no room for doubt.

OUR WASHERS ARE REALLY, REALLY BIG.
Big in size and big in value.

For the same price as our competitors, we give you two washes and two rinses for every load, not just one — and the high efficiency front-load design doesn’t destroy your clothes like top-load washers do.

Our washers also spin your clothes at an amazing 90 G-Force, squeezing out 160% more water. This means you spend less time and money on drying.

Speaking of which, have we mentioned our 72,000 BTU dryers? They’re pretty sweet, too. They feature an active secondary motor that blasts air through your clothes at 354 cu/ft per minute, resulting in fluffy, dry clothes, fast, without the heat damage other dryers can cause.

We’re proud of our stores, and we’d like you to stop by and experience not only our great machines, but our cleanliness and excellent customer service.

Helping people run well

Story and photos by Denise Elam

Kathy Gates, owner of The Running Well Store in Mission.
Something wasn’t right. Kathy Gates couldn’t put her finger on it at first. But she knew in her heart that she was meant to be doing something different with her life.

“I worked in advertising after college. I moved out to New York and worked at Grey Worldwide,” she said. “I just wasn’t happy for some reason.”

She moved back to Kansas City, her hometown since high school, and got a job working atVML as an account supervisor. But still, she couldn’t shake the feeling that something was missing.

“While I worked there is when I started training for my first marathon,” she said. “I’ve always been really active, but once I got a traditional desk job I realized I needed to stay active for my health.”

As she became more interested in running long distances, she began researching products to help runners. This turned into a side business, of sorts — creating bib books for marathon runners, medal display shelves and more.

“I was going to sell my products online, but I had never sold anything to runners before,” she said. “So I looked up running stores in the Northland and found Sports Medicine and Metro Walk and Run Store.”

She met with the store owner, Bob Lafferty, to propose her business ideas. “Through that, Bob started talking about me taking over the Sports Medicine and Metro Walk and Run Store,” she said. “I purchased it from him in 2013 and renamed it ‘The Running Well Store.’”

Kathy quickly expanded the store’s reach in the Kansas City Metro area, opening another store in Lee’s Summit. During a visit to Flatlanders Ski & Snowboard shop a few years back, Kathy stumbled across the next location for her business — Mission, Kansas.

“I tucked it away as a possible location and then as I was ready to open a third store, I revisited the real estate, looked at some spaces and fell in love with the City of Mission,” she said.

The Running Well Store in Mission opened August of 2018. The shop specializes in expert advice regarding the right shoe fits and types. “We specialize in a stride analysis,” she said. “We’ll put you on a treadmill, record your stride and match you with your shoe type category.”

Shoe types fall into three different categories — neutral, stability and guidance. These categories depend on foot shape, arch support, etc.

“It’s kind of like when you go to buy a car — you know you need a midsize sedan, so you might be looking into a Camry or an Accord,” she said. “Most people don’t know what style of shoe they need. So once we know your style, we’ll bring out the right versions of those shoes for you to test drive.”

Kathy said research shows that stride analysis helps prevent injuries typical to runners.

“In talking to Bob, one of the biggest challenges with a sports medicine store is that you really don’t want to see your clients again because they’re coming in with injuries — you want them to get back to their healthy lives,” she said. “What we learned is that doing the stride analysis helped prevent people from being injured, and they were able to work their shifts at work, run and go on walks without pain.”

Kathy said her shop isn’t for runners only — but instead, anyone who could use guidance on what shoe works best for their feet. “We’re called The Running Well Store, so a lot of people call and say ‘Well, I’m not a runner,’” Kathy said. “We can absolutely help them. This knowledge we use for people who pound the pavement 100% parleys into somebody who is a nurse working a 12-hour shift or someone who walks their dog and is battling Plantar Fasciitis (heel pain).”

Mike Pfannenstiel, manager of the Mission location, said a lot of people come into the store fearful that they will be judged for not being a runner. “The thing is — what classifies a real runner? As long as you’re moving forward, no matter what speed, you still cover the same distance,” he said. “Some people say, ‘As soon as I become a runner, I’ll go there and buy a shoe.’ We want to help you get in the right shoe now, because as you become more proficient, you might need a different shoe.”
Mike said a lot of customers come on a referral-basis.
“Over half of our customers aren’t runners,” he said. “We get a lot of referrals from doctors and chiropractors.”

The shop has seen a lot of success since its opening day — even during the COVID-19 pandemic that forced Kathy and her team to rethink a lot of the shop’s strategies.
“The day that we had to close our doors to the public, we didn’t have an e-commerce website,” she said. “So I looked my full-time staff in the eye and said, ‘I’ve got a month’s worth of work to figure out how we’re going to make this business model work virtually.’”

She gives a lot of credit to her employees for rolling with the punches. They began offering virtual fittings — asking people to record their strides at home and send them in for analysis. Quickly, they procured an e-commerce website to sell shoes online.
A lot of the new delivery and sales methods used during those first seven weeks ended up making her customers happier than ever.
“We did store-to-door delivery during the pandemic. If you bought something from us, we’d drop it off at your house,” she said. “Now we do it for free for purchases over $150.”
In-store pickup as well as scheduled fittings and virtual fitting quizzes are other new strategies that will remain permanent options at the store.
“A lot of the challenges we had to overcome, we came out stronger on the back end and made very quick business pivots that long term will benefit our customers and company,” she said. “We were one of the fortunate ones for sure.”

Another change to the business model post-COVID-19 has been scaling back on the weekly group runs. The Running Well Store staff and other interested community members at all three store locations used to take part in weekly runs throughout the surrounding neighborhoods (Lee’s Summit, Northland and Mission).
“Every Thursday, we would meet at 6 a.m. and do a group run in Mission,” she said. “Once the pandemic hit, I just couldn’t justify staff-members being put at risk. We want to relaunch them the first week of June of 2021, which is Global Running Day.”

Working with her staff has been Kathy’s favorite part of the job so far. Her employees consist of knowledgeable ex-runners and even some former cross country and track instructors.
“I love working with the staff and people,” she said. “What we do genuinely makes peoples’ lives better, whether it’s their qualifying for the Boston Marathon, running their first 5K or trying to get through a work shift without pain — seeing them come in with a problem and being able to solve it for them is just very rewarding.”

During the winter, The Running Well Store is open weekdays 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, with reduced hours on Sundays from noon to 5 p.m.
From Memorial Day to Labor Day, the shop’s hours lengthen to 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekly.

- FUN FACT -
Kathy and her staff love running on Mission’s trails. Their favorite route, the Rock Creek Trail, has been dubbed “The Running Well Store Route” because they use it so often.

“The Rock Creek Trail goes along Martway and into the open space where the Mission Market happens in the summer,” Kathy said. “Then it takes you back to Martway and left on Lamar. Just south of the Lamar/ Martway intersection, the trail takes you away from traffic and behind some residential homes. It’s an out and back trail.”

Celebration Tree Challenge

Planting 70 trees during Mission's 70th Year

In a life full of reasons to celebrate, the City of Mission invites you to consider participating in the Celebration Tree Program. “In life, there is never a shortage of occasions to celebrate — whether it be in remembering the lives of loved ones, celebrating a wedding or anniversary, a retirement, or a city’s 70th birthday,” said Penn Almoney, Director of Mission Parks + Recreation.

The Celebration Tree Program offers opportunities to plant a tree in one of the City’s parks or on other public property to recognize the special moments and people in life worth celebrating. Since the start of the program, many have planted trees in memory of their loved ones. Some have even dedicated trees to their beloved dogs gone too soon.

“We are challenging the community to join together in this 70th Anniversary year to see if we can plant 70 trees throughout the City,” Penn said. “We can’t think of a better way to honor our City’s birthday as well as our long and proud history as a Tree City USA.”

A donation to the City of Mission covers the cost of the tree, installation, and maintenance of the tree for the duration of its life. Donations are accepted in the following amounts based on the size of tree requested:

- $550 – 2-inch caliper tree
- $750 – 3-inch caliper tree
- $2,000 – 5-inch caliper tree

An additional donation of $300 will purchase a 9-by-5 cast bronze plaque allowing you to personalize the tree with information about the person or event you are commemorating.

Donors receive a certificate and a map of the tree’s location within the City. A list of available species and planting locations are available from the Parks + Recreation Department.

Aside from the Celebration Tree Program, there are a number of other ways to support this “greening” of Mission. Consider planting a native tree in your own yard with 50% of the cost covered through Mission’s Stormwater Best Management Practices Program (see www.missionks.org for more information). Or consider a financial donation to the City’s Tree Fund. Every $100 will be put to use planting a tree in 2021.

Be sure to tell us if you planted a tree on your own property, and help us reach that “70 in the 70th Year” goal! You can help us track our progress on the website and through the City’s social media accounts. For more information, please contact Parks + Recreation Director Penn Almoney at palmoney@missionks.org or 913.722.8210.
You often hear people say, “Our future looks bright thanks to the next generation,” and that’s a dramatic understatement when you consider the entries for Mission’s first “If I Were Mayor” poster contest.

In honor of the City’s 70th birthday this year, the City of Mission hosted a student contest during the month of March. Elementary students from first through fifth grade had a chance to share what they would do if elected to serve as the City’s Mayor, and their submissions didn’t disappoint.

The hardest part was trying to select a winner from each grade level. “While we ultimately had to pick the winning posters, there were no losers in this contest,” said Mission Mayor Ron Appletoft. “I was impressed with the thoughtfulness that went into each entry. Our Mission kids are full of compassion and great ideas.”

Cora, 1st Grade

Cora’s vision for Mission not only includes keeping our City clean, but encourages recycling, features trees and green space, and promotes a healthy, active lifestyle and alternative means of transportation (bicycle).
There’s plenty to feel great about in listening to the ideas of the young people in our community. Congratulations to our 2021 contest winners, but a very special “thank you” to all who took the time to submit an entry. Time spent thinking about how to make our City a better place is always time well spent.

Poster contest winners will be recognized at the May 19 City Council meeting and all poster entries will be shared on the City’s website and through social media.

*There were no submissions received at the 2nd Grade level

Sustainability Commission Recognizes The Locale for Sustainability Achievement

When a large project is proposed in Mission, the developers are invited to participate in the Sustainability Scorecard process. This voluntary process opens a dialogue between the Mission Sustainability Commission and developers or property owners proposing new development projects. Using the Sustainability Scorecard, the Commission prompts consideration of sustainable choices that go above building code requirements. Decisions about site development, land use, transportation, material and resource use, energy conservation, efficiency and carbon emission reduction and more are scored. Based on the score, the development earns bronze, silver, gold, or platinum recognition.

The Locale Earns Silver Recognition
Recently, the Mission Sustainability Commission presented EPC Real Estate Group with Silver Level Recognition for The Locale project at Johnson Drive and Lamar Avenue. The project includes 200 apartment units and an interior courtyard with a 5,000-square-foot restaurant space facing the sidewalk. The project earned points for compact development, access to transit facilities and walkability, installation of energy-efficient windows, heating and cooling systems and thermal insulation and more.

Developments that have participated in the Scorecard process include:
• Cornerstone Commons (Complete, Johnson Drive + Barkley Street)
• The Locale (Complete, Johnson Drive + Lamar Avenue)
• The Martway Apartments (Proposed at Martway + Beverly Avenue)
• Tidal Wave Auto Spa (Under construction on Johnson Drive + Walmer Street)
• The Gateway Development (Under construction at Johnson Drive + Roe Boulevard)
• Mission Bowl Project (Construction pending at Martway Street, west of Nall Avenue)

Future Project – Mission Bowl Apartments
The forthcoming Mission Bowl Apartments Project received preliminary Gold recognition for the Sustainability Scorecard process. The project will be certified to a LEED Silver standard incorporating locally-sourced materials, reducing light pollution, using energy-efficient systems and onsite energy monitoring, installing low-flow fixtures, and more. These elements will be verified when construction is complete.

The Mission Sustainability Commission is an advisory body to the City Council that aims to be a good steward of natural resources, make Mission, Kansas a desirable community, be advisors to the City Council, and increase visibility of sustainability in our community. The Sustainability Scorecard seeks to reward projects for making sustainable choices.
Common Code Enforcement Complaints

Spring and summer are good times to think about property maintenance! The City has adopted several property maintenance codes that help ensure our neighborhoods remain vibrant and attractive and maintain property values. Here is a quick list of some of the top complaints the City receives each year. Please use it to look around at your own property and see if there are any steps you may need to take so that you remain in compliance with City Code.

If you do happen to find an issue that needs to be addressed, the Mission Possible assistance program may be able to help with eligible repairs. Please contact Neighborhood Services at 913.676.8360 for more information on the Mission Possible program or with questions about Mission’s property maintenance codes.

- Maintain all grass and weeds below 8 inches
- Inoperable vehicles are not permitted to be stored on the property
- Storage of tools, equipment and household items must be in an enclosed area such as in a garage or accessory building
- Surfaces of all buildings on the property must be free of chipping paint
- Ill-maintained fences and accessory structures should be repaired or replaced
- Other vehicles, such as boats, RVs and trailers, must be stored behind the front line of the building
- Nuisances such as brush piles, piles of trash, and stagnant water are not permitted on the property
There's something new on Mission's streets!

WCA Waste Corporation, Mission’s solid waste service provider, has added trucks that use compressed natural gas (CNG) fuel to Mission routes. CNG vehicles emit less greenhouse gas than those that use conventional fuel, and they may also create less engine noise than other vehicles.

WCA has joined the GFL Environmental group of companies effective October 1, 2020.

A sign sticks up along the neatly-tended pathway just outside Mission City Hall. “Maintained by the Plant Lady,” it says. The “Plant Lady” is Mary Funk.

Longtime Mission resident Mary Funk has been maintaining the flowers outside City Hall since 2016. Pulling weeds, watering the blossoms and planting new flowers isn’t her job — but she considers it her opportunity. After retiring as an English professor and tutor from Johnson County Community College two and a half years ago, she has dedicated herself to more volunteering tasks.

Much of her volunteer efforts center around greenery, vegetables and flowers. As a certified Master Gardener, Mary is passionate about spreading the love and knowledge of gardening to others.

This passion led a neighbor to suggest Mary beautify the landscape outside City Hall several years ago. So she did. No questions asked.

“I went up there and pulled weeds around the City Hall building,” she said. “It took me 14 hours.” Since that day, she hasn’t stopped — making weekly trips with her gloves and gardening tools. With no sprinkler system or close water source to use, Mary fills a dozen jugs of water and carries them to City Hall.

But City Hall isn’t the only location that has benefitted from Mary’s servant heart. Each Thursday, she volunteers to groom the roses at Loose Park in Kansas City, Missouri and has for the past 10 years.

“Tending roses there is a joy,” she said. Up until COVID-19 occurred, she also volunteered as an English tutor at Westwood View Elementary School (“teaching English for free, something I’ve never done before.”). Mary’s class awarded her the Volunteer of the Year award in 2019. She hopes to return there someday soon to spend time with her first grade students again.

When she’s not gardening, Mary enjoys quilting and donating her work to nursing homes and organizations like the National Cancer Society and the Mission Family Adoption Program. She also quilts children’s blankets for Project Linus with her quilt guild.

“I make quilts for the Johnson County Christmas Bureau for senior citizens in nursing homes,” Mary noted. “I make them to cover a twin-sized bed. My thinking is, the fabric is clean and bright and it might have been a long time since they had a new blanket that’s warm and colorful. My friends and family also receive my quilts; they love and use them all.”

Mary recently retired from the Mission Parks, Recreation + Tree Board in 2021 after serving eight years. She was well known on the board for speaking her opinion and being a strong voice for... causes dear to her heart.
“The Park Board introduced me to a lot of Mission residents that I would never have met (otherwise),” she said. “And it helped me learn more about City government.”

Mary encourages others to pick volunteer opportunities that are close to home.
“You should volunteer in your own area, neighborhood and community because then you’ll have more time to spend doing it,” she said. “Try it out. If you don’t like a particular community service, switch to something else. You don’t have to stick with something you don’t like.”

Mission offers a variety of volunteer opportunities, according to Mary.
“Find out if the company you work for has projects you can volunteer with,” she said. “That way, you can work alongside people you know … There’s always church connections and meals to feed people during holidays.”

She advises volunteers to pay close attention to their own schedules and consider how involved they want to be.
“The more you do, the more you’ll enjoy it, and the benefit is a good feeling and helps others,” she said. “I feel fortunate that I’m in a community that values volunteers. Because Mission does.”

In the parking lot just outside Trinity Lutheran Church in Mission, a young volunteer named Olivia carefully places hand sanitizer into the back of a van. Her grandma Julie stands close behind her, holding a package of diapers. Dozens of vehicles loop their way around the lot, waiting their turn to receive groceries and other essentials from the Mission Community Food Pantry.

The pantry, hosted by Trinity Lutheran Church with the help of a dozen-plus volunteers, provides perishable and non-perishable food items, diapers, hand sanitizer and other supplies on the second and fourth Thursday of each month, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Rhonda Synovec, Children’s Ministry Director at Trinity Lutheran Church, along with Suzie Gibbs, found a way to positively impact the community year-round. Suzie, a staunch supporter of the Mission Family Adoption Program and coordinator of the Harvesters Mobile Food Distribution in Mission, recognized a need in the community.

“We’ve been really blessed with the community in Mission, businesses and members of our local churches for their donations of food and time, plus a willingness to donate cash funds.”

committee formed in the Spring of 2020, including Suzie Gibbs, Rhonda Synovec, Lynn Kring, Jon Lomshek, Steve Anderson, Cori Hastings, Cathy Casey, Danny Smith and Arcie Rothrock. Because of COVID-19 limitations, the committee opted to host a drive-thru style pantry — similar to the Harvesters mobile food distributions — until restrictions are lifted. The process is simple: as each vehicle is checked in, a designated number is placed on the windshield depending upon family size.

Someone needing enough groceries to assist four families, for instance, would receive the number four to display in their windshield. As they make their way through the line, volunteers place items suitable for four families directly into their open trunk.

“Even though we didn’t know what we were doing and didn’t have any help or money, we just thought, ‘We can do this,’” Suzie emphasized. “We planned the first food pantry event the fourth week of October in 2020; it went great.”

By the second week in December, 136 cars were lined up outside. “The turnout was just phenomenal; it was wonderful because we were helping so many people,” Suzie emphasized. Since that time, the pantry has received both food and monetary donations from Trinity Lutheran Church members, community members, local businesses and Harvesters — The Community Food Network. The pantry also received several shelving units from the Mission Rotary Club and a freezer along with two refrigerators from Oregano and Thyme to store perishable items.

Suzie said even miscellaneous items, like bed frames and lamps, have been donated and happily given away to families.

Both Rhonda and Suzie hope to increase the capacity of the pantry while providing more opportunities for assistance in the future.

“We’re hoping we can allow people to come inside eventually,” Suzie noted. “We’d like to dedicate another room where we can sit down with people and ask them, ‘How can we help you? Do you need monetary assistance or help signing up for food stamps?’ We can direct them to their available options.’”

As manager of the food pantry, Rhonda is in charge of the day-to-day operations, including leading a team of volunteers to help bag food items on sorting and packing days.

“Everything happens within an hour-and-a-half timespan on a Wednesday night,” she explained. “I have kiddos as young as 5 coming in to pack and sort. We have another awesome group of volunteers who come on Thursdays; they each take to their stations, smile and place items in the cars while talking to people to get to know who they are.”

One such volunteer, Nancy, hands out children’s books to families. “I think we have to feed their hearts and souls as well as their stomachs,” she emphasized. “It’s so fulfilling to see a child get a book.”

For Rhonda, the most rewarding aspect of managing the food pantry is knowing that the needs of the community are being met.

“We’ve been really blessed with the community in Mission, businesses and members of our local churches for their donations of food and time, plus a willingness to donate cash funds; it has been a true blessing,” she said.

One food pantry visitor, who will remain anonymous, said the pantry helps feed her six kids. “We come for the extra help,” she said. “The pantry has been a blessing for a lot of people because even if we can’t use all the items, we try to find someone else who can.”

Mission, 1951: It’s the heyday of the automobile, and suburban life is in full swing with new homes and new families popping up in every corner of Northeast Johnson County.

As both Mission Homes Association president and owner of the newly opened M&M Auto Parts on Johnson Drive, E.C. McBride was well suited to take the lead as the first mayor of the new City of Mission.

Prior to 1949, only the cities of Shawnee and Lenexa were incorporated in Northeast Johnson County, with the remaining land under control of the two vast townships. One by one, smaller factions of homes associations in the area began forming their own cities to serve residents’ needs.

With businesses thriving and new homes appearing throughout the 1920s-50s, the area that is now Mission needed a more effective form of government than the township model provided.

Mission business professionals and residents, led by McBride, met in 1950 to begin the process of incorporating Mission.

With the help of recent University of Kansas law grad Keith Martin, the team drafted a plan to incorporate as a third-class municipality.

On July 2, 1951, the Johnson County Commissioner announced the incorporation of three cities: Mission, Roeland Park and Countryside. At the time, Mission boasted a population of 1,862.

July 13, 1951: First Municipal Election

The original organizing committee elected to serve in 1951 included:

Mayor: E.C. McBride.

(McBride ran uncontested for the mayoral position until 1953, and eventually served until 1955, when he was succeeded by Sylvester Powell, Jr.)

City Councilmen: R.M Henry, Don Bremer, Ernest L. Reavis, Roy M. Daffron, R.A. Jones

City Clerk: Ernie Ford

City Treasurer: W.O. Riddle

City Attorney: Keith Martin (Keith would serve as city attorney until 1964. His son, David Martin, has served as the city attorney since 1977).
